JOHN B. DRYDEN, SR.,

Friend and Comrade, Answers the Last Call.

On Sunday morning at 9:00 o'clock, Mr. John B. Dryden, Sr., our boyhood friend and companion, answered the last summons, after as brave a fight as we ever saw, lasting for over eight long months.

John B. Dryden was the son of the late, Mr. James H. Dryden and wife, and was born and raised in this city, although he lived for a time, with his parents, in Warsaw, Ky., Louisville, Ky., and in Indiana. He was 63 years old in January last.

He learned the printing business when a lad in the old Yeoman office, then owned by the late Col. S. I. M. Major.

At the commencement of the civil war, he enlisted in the company of Capt. Jas. R. Page, in the 9th Kentucky Cavalry, U. S. A., commanded by Col. R. T. Jacob, and made a brave soldier, being promoted to Commissary Sergeant. After the regiment was mustered out Mr. Dryden was employed in the Adjutant General's department as a commissary sergeant. He filled every position he occupied with efficiency and fidelity.

In young manhood he was married to Miss Catherine Banta, daughter of the late Mr. H. G. Banta, and they have lived a congenial and happy life—devoted to each other, in sunshine and in storm.

To them were given eleven children—five sons and six daughters—of whom four sons (Jas. H., John B., Jr., Edwin M., and Pruitt B. Dryden) and three daughters (Mrs. E. Church Tinsley, Mrs. Ross A. McCallum and Miss Ida Dryden) survive him, together with his devoted wife.

After engaging in one or two other enterprises, he finally returned to his first love and began the publication of a daily newspaper in this city, in conjunction with others. Finding business with partners not according to his taste, he sold out. After a few months he returned to the business and issued the Sunday Call, which ran a short while as a weekly, but was soon enlarged to an afternoon daily, and which he has continued for over sixteen years.

We were his companion and friend in boyhood and have always been together as friends from that day to the sad hour when he laid down life's burden.

He was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of this city, and the funeral services were conducted from that church, on Tuesday afternoon, by Rev. J. O. A. Vaughn, of the Methodist Church. His brethren of the Grand Army of the Republic and of the B. P. O. Elks attended the services in a body.

The services at the grave, in our cemetery, were conducted by Mr. Chas. Clingman, of the Episcopal Church.

In February last Mr. Dryden was commissioned as Alde-de-Camp, by Grand Commander-in-Chief James Tanner, with the rank of Colonel on his staff, of the Grand Army of the Republic.

A braver, truer friend than John B. Dryden never lived in Frankfort.

Farewell! Old Comrade! Brother! Friend! May your rest be sweet. We hope to strike hands again on the other shore.

DELIGHTFUL CHANGE.

ACCIDENT ON TRACTION LINE.

An empty freight car broke loose from the Traction Co.'s motor, on Monday afternoon, on Logan street, and ran down the incline to Todd street, where it jumped the track and ran into some telephone poles, which stopped it. The car was damaged, the poles broken, but no other damage inflicted.

The trouble was soon remedied by Manager J. D. Sallee.

IN MEMORIAM.

The lighting of the thistle-down upon the meadow is not more gentle than was the release of the spirit from its environment of clay, when the final summons called John B. Dryden to the better land. Amid the touching and constant vigil of relatives and the ministrations and sympathy of friends, the brave battle that had lasted for months ended, as ends the parting summer day, in peace and rest.

Years of business association and of later companionship, brings to the writer memories that evoke fruitful testimony of sterling qualities that were reflected in his life and character of John B. Dryden in conspicuous strength and power. Always responsive to the call of duty, always foremost in works of progressive citizenship, kindly and liberal in ministrations among the needy, and buoyant and bright in the social circles of everyday life, and exemplary in the affection and devotion he always manifested towards his friends and his family, there was not a day nor an hour that did not end better by his having lived in them.

His friends were legion; his purposes were for human betterment; the genial, habitual sunshine of his nature created brightness and warmth—there was nothing sordid or narrow in his disposition—his ways were ways of peace and kindness, and his death is deeply lamented by all who knew him.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

The following resolutions were adopted by the letter carriers of this city:

Resolved, That this Branch, in meeting assembled, extend to the bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy in this their time of deep sorrow; and, be it further

BLUE EYE.

A McDougall Kitchen Cabinet

WILL save you hundreds of steps because everything you need in the preparation of a meal can be found in the cabinet without your going back and forth from the kitchen table to pantry and closet.

A McDougall Kitchen Cabinet

takes the place of the kitchen table and gives you the same unobstructed working service as the table—with a drop leaf at either end if desired.

Think of the convenience it would be to you in the preparation of a meal, to have all the food supplies dishes, cooking utensils, flour, sugar, salt, spices, and everything else within the instant reach of your hand, so you can get to work at once.

This is what it would mean to you in the saving of time as well as in the saving of steps. Think what it would mean to you when you come to make up your grocery order to be able to look through the cabinet and tell exactly what you need without looking in a dozen different places.

Buggy Smashed.

While a colored boy was driving the buggy and horse of Dr. N. M. Garrett along Second street on Saturday, en route to the livery stable of Mr. W. F. The colored boy, although frightened almost to death, hung on and was unhurt when the horse was caught.

JUDGE O'REAR'S SPEECH.

Judge E. C. O'Rear, of Mt. Sterling, spoke at the Courthouse in Versailles, Monday, in the interest of local option, and it is conceded by all who heard him that his speech was one of the ablest in behalf of this question they ever heard. Judge O'Rear is one of the strongest members of the Court of Appeals and enjoys to a high degree the respect and confidence of his fellow-judges and all others who have business with the State's highest court. He is heartily in favor of local option and gives his reasons therefore in a vigorous, convincing manner. His speech will result in great good to the cause here.—Midway Clipper.

ANOTHER FRIEND CALLED HENCE.

We were shocked and saddened, on Wednesday, when the news came that Mr. Emilus Morancy, of Versailles, had laid down life's burden, and gone to his reward.

He was about 52 years of age. A high-toned, Southern gentleman, refined, cultured, gentle and true. His health had been poor for several years, but his sudden call was a great shock to his large circle of friends.

Mr. Morancy was a brother of Mr. H. P. Morancy, of Versailles, and of Mrs. John R. McKee, of Woodford county.

Until recently he was the owner of the fine old White homestead, located at Lock No. 5, on the Kentucky River. Owing to poor health, he had disposed of the place and had gone to St. Louis in search of restoration.

We have known him many years, our relations being of the most cordial and friendly character. In fine, no one who really knew Emilus Morancy could fail to admire and respect him for his manly character. He was as gentle and tender as a woman, as fearless as a Roman Centaur, and as shy as a maiden.

He had never married, but his admiration and respect for ladies was unbounded. He was a devout Christian.

The remains were brought to this city on Thursday morning, the funeral being conducted by his pastor, Rev. Father Boeler, assisted by Rev. Father Major, after which he was laid away in the family lot in the Catholic Cemetery.

"Friend after friend departs
Who has not lost a friend?"

We tender to the sorely afflicted relatives of our departed friend our tender sympathy.

CHANGE OF PROGRAM.

By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that the railroad authorities have changed their minds and another excursion from this city to Cincinnati will be run over the F. & C. and Q. & C. Railroads, to-morrow (Sunday). This will be the last of the season.

The Better Way

The tissues of the throat are inflamed and irritated; you cough, and there is more irritation—more coughing. You take a cough mixture and it eases the irritation—for a while. You take and it cures the cold. That's what is necessary. It soothes the throat because it reduces the irritation; cures the cold because it drives out the inflammation; builds up the weakened tissues because it nourishes them back to their natural strength. Cured

SCOTT'S EMULSION

At 70 of Heart Disease Contracted

During Civil War Veteran Grateful.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure
Effectively Cured.

Heart disease is curable, but in people of advanced age it does not easily let go. We hope for all sufferers in Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, which we know from watching hundred and thousands of cases of heart patients, will give you where all else has failed.

It is not only a wonderful cure for weak and diseased hearts, but it is a blood tonic, a regulator of the circulation, and the most effective treatment ever formulated for improving the circulation of the blood.

"During the Civil War I contracted heart disease, but I did not let go. I went to the old town of Lexington, Va., I grew much worse, I left there with my wife to visit my sister-in-law, Mrs. J. Kirby, at Rosedale, Va., and I was told that I would never expect to live to return to the dear old town. On reaching Mrs. Kirby's she insisted I should try Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and I came home with her to take the Miles' Tonic.

After taking one or two bottles, I could see an improvement, and I despaired of keeping it up, which I did. Improvement soon began in earnest and I took all fifteen or sixteen bottles. I now recover perfectly and am a healthy boy. You sir, is a benefactor, and I chekically recommend him to every one."

HON. YODER POIGNARD ACCIDENTALLY KILLED.

On Tuesday last Hon. Yoder Poignard was run over and killed by a railroad train near his home in Taylorsville.

Mr. Poignard was advanced in years and his eyesight was poor. The accident occurred on a steep grade and was due to that gentleman walking in front of the train.

Mr. Poignard was an able man, a member of a very prominent family. He was a cousin of Mrs. W. F. Barret, Mrs. W. T. Scott and Mrs. Jos. Bailey, of this city.

As Circuit Clerk Ben Marshall was coming out of the courthouse yard, on Monday afternoon, he stepped down on an inclined step and slipped heavily, badly spraining his left ankle. It was broken, at first, that the ankle was broken, but, upon examination, this was found to be a mistake, and he was taken to his home in his brother's (Mr. L. B. Marshall) buggy.

This is just the time to call attention to this step, which is a menace to the safety of pedestrians, for several have met with accidents at this point, although not as serious as that to Mr. Marshall. We came near having the same thing to happen on a rainy day some months ago. This stone step is so worn and sloping that it is very dangerous.

Have it fixed before something worse happens.

CINCINNATI FALL FESTIVAL.

Cincinnati, O., August 31. (Special)—The big Fall Festival has been thrown open to the public. Tuesday at 11 o'clock, Pres. Otto Armleder officially declared the gates open and dedicated the big show to the public.

At dusk on the opening day, as scheduled, 20,000 flaming balloons mounted into the air, and for more than an hour the sky over the city was literally hung with fire. A more brilliant sight was never seen in the West than this "War of the Balloons." They plunged about high over the city, crashed into each other, burned and gouged holes into each other, making a truly novel spectacle. While the balloons were mounting higher and higher, huge dynamite bombs were hurled high into the air, the explosions being heard for miles around. They were fired at twenty different points about the city.

At 8 o'clock Tuesday night the first American performance of "The Blue Moon," the musical spectacle imported from London, was witnessed by more than three thousand people in Music Hall. The premiere of this funny extravaganza was brilliant. Principals and chorus acquitted themselves in honorable style and in the second and last act, when the grand stage pageant of more than 250 people, elephants, horses, etc., passed in a grand finale the audience rose in cheers.

The "Fighting the Flames" show at the several performances during the day drew heavily. A more realistic battle against fire could not be devised. Everything tending to make the performances spectacular in the extreme has been put into the show. There are real fire engines and other fire-fighting paraphernalia, expert firemen, etc., and the ladder-scaling and life-saving feats of the fire laddies are truly remarkable.

The shows about Washington Park are a veritable world's carnival in themselves. There are dozens of first-class attractions, making the place as lively as the St. Louis Pike. Crowds are filling the city and every train brings hundreds of others.

ACROSS FENCES—FARMING.

Grandma believed in early rising. She said "it made people live longer, and healthier lives. She herself was in the seventies and was always well; while grandpa wuz eighty-two, and could lift a back-log same as when he wuz a lad."

We ate breakfast by lamp-light, and such a one as I had not enjoyed for years. Corn cakes with the sweetest butter, broiled chicken, fried apples and coffee—fit to jogs clear, fragrant, delicious.

Grandma said: "Hunger made a heap uv difference in a person's appetite, an' even ice cream an' cake wouldn't taste good if you wuz in them mood fur it."

Grandpa read a Psalm and offered a short prayer, after we had eaten. It was an old custom handed down the ages, and the fervent appeal touched my heart with a Christian sympathy. Afterward, "he said he wuz goin' ter mill, an' we could go with him over ter John's." Grandma was included in the invitation, which was accepted. Then, we visited the attic, where I saw many interesting objects. Two lard firkins 100 years old. Brass and iron—worth their weight in gold coin. Books of forgotten history. A white beaver, with a war record, old hand-made "coverlids," and towels, which some society woman would have given much to possess. I could have spent several hours with profit to myself, but grandpa's voice was heard calling, "ready?"

That trip was one of the events of the summer. We went in a wagon. Grandma in a chair, and I on the seat with grandpa, who drove the "bay mare" with careful consideration, and slower dispatch. "He never believed in racing, as John did. Too much danger, and besides a fast driver wuz alders cranky-noticed and hide bounded." I enjoyed the syllogisms. The road was a "mud lane," bounded on the north by boulders, on the east by rail fencing, on the west by stone wall and on the south by sloshy holes rock-filled, and bumpfited at pleasure. The way was picturesque indeed,

Twenty Minutes Time Enough?

To Care the Worst Headache From Any Cause—New Reduction Method.

Most headaches are pain, with intensity to the new Headache Method. Dr. Shattock's Twenty Minute Headache Cure. The cause for these pains is congestion—a rushing of blood to the brain, and the veins and capillaries near the bursting point. Swollen and enlarged, these veins and capillaries exert an irritating pressure upon the brain, nerves and fibers. Then, there's a sharp pain, and finally that terrible headache. The new Reduction Method disperses the blood, overflows, and distributes the blood to all centers from all pressure and irritation. The nerves are freed from the pressure and irritation, and the disease disappears because the nerves are freed. You may try a thousand remedies—you may apply a thousand ointments—but the remedy prompt relief and permanent cure is the new Headache Method. It is a way—simple and sure, yet the only way—to thoroughly overcome these attacks of Headache. The new Headache Method is prompt—perfectly suited to all forms of Headache and absolutely effective, even temporary. For sale and recommended by with interlacing of tree branches leafy shadowed. Wild creeping vines, crimson blossomed, ran up to the tip top of the tallest trees. A woody smell filled the air, and the green, mossy cliffs we were nearing, with the low murmur of water, told that we were close to the ford on the Elkhorn. There was a bridge, but grandpa wanted to fill up a water barrel, and choose that crossing instead. I would love to have waded across. The stream at that particular spot was not deep, and a childish memory whispered it was one of the "old long sine fishing pools." We crossed over, after "Boston" had drunk her fill of the clear refreshing fluid, and after climbing a hill of unpretending, yet nevertheless laborious elevation, we came out upon a white, upland highway called a pike, with telephone poles along the borders, and upon either side well-grown crops of tobacco and corn.

Into a broad driveway, with an avenue of elm and maple, through a modern self-acting gate, we jogged up to the very door of a beautiful residence, and were welcomed by "John, his three boys, and his charming wife." The solicitude of helping mother from her chair was a pleasing incident, and the hospitable handclasp of each made me, too, come in as one of the family. Father declined the invitation to "get out," saying, "he wuz a goin' ter mill, but wud leave them women folks ter spend ther day." After which he left us to the sweet company of his son's home. It was an ideal farm. High, dry, and well adapted for cultivation, being partly set in clover, and more than a third in bluegrass pastures.

What impressed me most was the trees, almost like the dreams of other years, left to shed their leaves undisturbed, save by the rustle of the rabbit's tread, or the soft-footed snow in the early fall of winter.

I went all over the farm viewing the stock-cattle, hogs and horses. Hearing how one farmer did the work of two, or even more with his gasoline engine, and other motive power used in plowing; cutting up corn stalks, for feed, chopping oats, and shredding slacks. They were dipping sheep that morning in an acre of sulphur, copperas and other ingredients for killing disease and vermin. The herd was about 50 half Cotswoold and one-half Lancashire. Healthy looking, clean-limbed and remunerative from a monetary standpoint. John was feeding hogs for market—Jersey, Duroc, Money in these, and an inclination to buy up yearlings to feed roughness when the swine was off hands. He was an up-to-date, practical young farmer, educated at a college for country-inclined youths with push and energy. He made everything on his farm worth while, and raised everything to keep them well and happy, except sugar and coffee, the eggs purchasing these luxuries.

After eating, my food would distress me by making my heart palpitate and I would become very weak, and have to lie down and remain quiet for a considerable time.

HAPPY RESULTS.

Have Made Many Frankfort Residents Enthusiastic.

No wonder scores of Frankfort citizens grow enthusiastic. It is enough to make anyone happy to find relief after years of suffering. Public statements like the following are but truthful representations of the daily work done in Frankfort by Doan's Kidney Pills.

W. T. Frazier, proprietor of Frazier's Candy Kitchen, 48 St. Clair St., residing at No. 5 Second St., says: "The efficacy of Doan's Kidney Pills was amply proven in my case. I suffered from backache a great deal, often so severely that I could not turn in bed. In the morning when I got up, it was a common thing to feel lame and sore in the back. Being on my feet so much of the time in my store no doubt tended to aggravate the trouble. Anxious to find some relief and a permanent cure, if possible, when I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, and saw them so highly recommended by people living nearby, I went to J. W. Gayle's drug store and got a box. It was a glad surprise to me to find that after taking them for a day or two they were removing the pain. I continued the treatment, and by the time I had finished the box, the trouble was entirely removed. Up-to-date, I have felt no recurrence. It is a pleasure to me to endorse this preparation."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

CALIFORNIA LETTER.

Healdsburg, Cal., Aug. 20, 1906.

Editor Roundabout:

I have just returned from a two weeks' camp on the coast at old Fort Ross, forty miles west of here. This was an old settlement of the Russians in the early part of the last century, in their endeavor to west California from the Mexicans. They erected two block houses, a barracks and a small primitive Greek Catholic Church. The Russians were partially bought and driven out, and the place fell into American hands. These buildings used to be quite an interesting landmark, which I have visited several times before. On former visits the old church was about as the Russians had left it, with rustic altar, old-fashioned benches, crucifix, and many other Russian relics, but the earthquake tumbled matters around, and the old church lies spread out on the ground.

The ocean at this point is excellent fishing on an incoming tide, besides good for sea bathing. Our party of four caught over 600 pounds of fish: sea trout, ocean bass, bullhead and sea perch, besides taking large quantities of abalone. The latter is a species of oyster very much larger and with only a half shell, the front of the fish being stuck fast to the large rocks from which it can be prized with an iron spear at low tide. The bullhead is a good eating fish similar to your yellow or channel catfish. The sea perch is very much like the Elkhorn red eye. The sea perch is a peculiar species and must belong among the mammals as it lays its young already hatched. I have seen hundreds of minnows one-half to three-quarter inch long come from a fish weighing one-half pound.

Large schools of whales are seen half mile out from the beach sporting, sometimes spouting water twenty or thirty feet high. Suppose your readers are tired of hearing about earthquake talk. We people out here are trying to forget them. Chile, however, very vividly refreshes our memory. My visit to the coast and witnessing the effects there, materially changed my preconceived idea of the causes of our shake of April 18th last. I had an idea that tremblers were caused by agitation of internal fires, or pent up gases. I am now satisfied that an immense slide, toward the north, of a tract of earth one mile wide next to the ocean and 800 miles long was the cause of our recent commotion. What caused this tract to slide I can not tell. Maybe a vacuum occurred in the ocean and there was a slide to fill it up. I saw unmistakable evidence that this large body of land had actually slipped north ten feet. I passed over a portion of the slide for a mile or two. Others who had traced the fissure or fault said it began near Salinas and entered the ocean at Stewart's Point, a distance of 275 miles. The line was very evident by the broken and torn up surface of the ground all along the fault. Fences and roads crossing the fault were slipped north on the ocean side ten feet out of line. Large redwood trees in the line of the fault were split deep down in the ground clear to their roots. I will send you a photo of one with one of our party in the split line, also one of the old church. Towns and dwellings within seventy-five miles were shaken and damaged. It was the shock and jar of this immense body of earth crashing along against the immovable part that caused our earthquake. Imagine the fate of any town or city that was on the immediate line of that slide—destruction was inevitable.

THE COLORED PEOPLE'S FAIR.

The best and most enterprising of our colored population have formed an association for the purpose of giving an agricultural and horticultural fair, commencing Thursday next, September 6, and continuing three days.

The list of premiums is large and the competition will, no doubt, be close.

This is a move in the right direction, and we hope that it will be so liberally patronized that it may be a success in every way, leading these good people to make the fair a permanent institution.

We commend the enterprise and refer those desiring further information to the catalogue which has been issued from the press.

OUTSIDE AND INSIDE.

A bath cleanses the skin and rids the pores of refuse. A bath makes for better fellowship and citizenship. Not only should the outside of the body be cleaned, but occasional use of a laxative or cathartic opens the bowels and clears the system of effete matter. Best for this are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. Pleasant little pills that do not grip or sicken. Sold by J. W. Gayle.

OFF FOR CAMP.

The Second Regiment Band, of this city, Capt. John Brady commanding, and about twenty members of Battery A, under command of Capt. C. W. Longmire, left for Henderson on Thursday, where they went into camp with the Second Regiment Kentucky National Guards.

WHAT'S IN McCLURES.

"The Story of Montana," the serial for the year, begun in August McClure's, gains interest as it goes along. From its king picture of the early days of the Commonwealth, it turns to development of the mining industry. The picturesque conditions of enormous fortunes which are created, and the bitter feuds which arise between Marcus Daly and William A. Clark. The story of the quarrel of Clark's first attempts to reach the United States Senate, of his spectacular defeat, and of the Montana capital fight, is told in the September McClure's. It makes one of the most interesting pages in American history.

"A Royal Romance," by C. N. and A. M. Williamson, is a timely narrative of the young King of Spain's courtship of an English girl. One of the remarkable features of the article is the account of a personal interview with the Princess Ena. The thirty years' war between the New York Mutual and Equitable companies is related with some surprising disclosures in chapter 8 of Burton J. Hendrick's "The Story of Life Once." Eugene Wood contributes an original article on Niagara."

The fiction department of the September McClure's lives up to the record made in the August number. Kipling in the fifth of his Robin Goodfellow stories, tells the charming legend of how the fairies were ferried out of England. Percival Gibbon appears for the first time in McClure's with a remarkable South African tale "The Trader of Last Notch."

NO MAN IS STRONGER THAN HIS STOMACH.

Let the greatest athlete have dyspepsia and his muscles would soon fail. Physical strength is derived from food. If a man has no stomach he cannot live. If he has no food he dies. Food is converted into nutrition through the stomach and bowels. It depends on the quality of the food. When a man has eaten it is digested and assimilated. He can die of starvation if he has no stomach to eat, while the stomach and intestines of others can live and nutrition do not perform their duty. Thus the stomach is the vital organ of the body. It is the stomach which is weak, also, because it is upon the stomach the body relies for its strength. And the body, considered as a whole, is weak because it is composed of members and organs, so the weakness of the body as a consequence of "weak" stomach will be distributed among the organs which are dependent on it. The body is weak because it is ill-nourished. "Vital" weakness will be found in "gum-sick heart," liver, kidneys, etc.

I live on all sorts of things giving rise to indigestion, loss of appetite, weak nerves, feeble or irregular action of heart, palpitation, dizziness, headache, backache and kindred diseases and weaknesses.

Mr. Louis Parks, of Quebec, writes: "For years I have been liable to fainting fits. I began to fall in my sleep and grew dizzy, eyes pained me, and my stomach was sore all the time, weevils and worms were eating me. He never liked me on my stomach. The doctor claimed that it was a nervous disorder and prescribed for me, and although I took their powders regularly yet I felt no better. Mr. F. H. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., Medical Discoverer—and stop taking the doctor's medicine. She bought me a little and we took for a week. We were well and kept up the treatment. I took on flesh, my strength increased, and I became active again perfectly and soon began to look like a different person. I can never cease to thank you for your wonderful treatment for me and I certainly give it highest praise."

It can be remedied by a penny-grabbing doctor, but there is nothing like Dr. Pierce's medicine, recommended to be "just as good."

To gain the courage of your own body in sickness and health—send for the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser. A book of 1008 pages. Send 21 one-cent stamp to cover paper-covered or 30 stamps for cloth-bound copy. Address Dr. F. Pierce, 603 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

"B. Jones, Butcher," is a satire by Samuel Hopkins Adams, in which one man, single-handed, fights a trust. John McIntyre tells an amusing tale of boy life in a Catholic school, under the title of "The Three Wise Men," and James Hopper contributes a comedy of Filipino life, "Ben-evolent Assimilation." There is a realistic narrative of a Western political campaign, by Viola Roseboro, and a poem by Florence Wilkinson, "The Mountain God."

The frontispiece of the September number, from a painting by N. C. Wyeth, represents "The Prospector," a significant figure in Western history. W. Hatherell has drawn the pictures from James Hopper's story, Andre Castaigne and Frederic Doré Steele illustrate Kipling's fairy tale, and L. Raven Hill has made artistic drawings for "The Three Wise Men." Eugen Wood's article on Niagara is accompanied by some remarkable color reproductions.

DON'T BE SORE.

DANGEROUSLY CUT.

On Friday evening, just as the crowd were entering the Gentry Bros. Pony and Dog Show tent, on Holmes Street, a crowd of disreputable negroes became boisterous and were pushing their way into the show, when a difficulty arose, in the course of which Mr. James B. West, son of Capt. L. T. West, was dangerously cut on the inside of the left thigh. The gash was about six or seven inches long, and was evidently made by a razor. Had the cut been half an inch deeper it would have been necessarily fatal. It was a glancing cut and extended two inches deep. It took ten stitches to close the wound properly.

The scoundrel who did the cutting, in the excitement, made his escape.

Capt. West, wife and grandson were inside the tent, awaiting the commencement of the entertainment, and, as soon as informed of the trouble, Capt. West secured a vehicle and brought his son to his home on Main street, where Dr. E. E. Hume had been summoned and dressed the wound. At this writing Mr. West is doing nicely.

R. K. MCCLURE & SON

GREAT BARLOW'S MINSTRELS.

Will Open Regular Theatrical Season Next Wednesday, September 5, at Capital Theatre.

A full house is assured Wednesday, September 5, at the Capital Theatre, when J. A. Coburn's Great Barlow Minstrels will be seen, in connection with the new scenic conception, showing the big airship, its propellers, lifting aero planes, beautiful colored lights, flags flying, and the various and handsome costumes of the singers, dancers and funny men will introduce the newest ideas in song and chorus, ballad and con shout, story and ludicrous situations. Every thing is new, people, costumes, scenery and music. This is the latest and best effort of this popular amusement enterer, and the singing is said to excell any heard with this company. It may not be amiss here to say that this company and its manager have given the most reliable, enjoyable and cleanest programmes in the past few seasons of any similar attraction ever seen in Frankfort, and we certainly extend congratulations to Mr. Coburn and his company for the very creditable and continuous effort made each year in providing a minstrel performance to which any man, woman or child may go without hearing or seeing one word or action of an embarrassing nature. It is only a few years ago that a lady would hardly be persuaded to attend the so-called "nigger minstrels." Today there is no more popular or interesting form of amusement, or one that is being brought up to the highest standard possible, especially by this company which will appear here Wednesday, September 5. An absolute guarantee of his good faith and performance is always given by Manager Coburn. Don't miss it this season. Seat sale opens at Barrett's Monday morning at 7 o'clock.

TORTURE BY SAVAGES.

"Speaking of the torture to which some of the savage tribes in the Philippines subject their captives reminds me of the intense suffering I endured for three months from inflammation of the kidneys," says W. M. Sherman, of Cushing, Me. "Nothing helped me until I tried Electric Bitters, three bottles of which completely cured me."

Cures Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Blood disorders and Malaria; and restores the weak and nervous to robust health. Guaranteed by all druggists. Price 50c.

BUYS AUTO.

Col. Jos. Rupert, President of the Rupert Grocery Co., has purchased an automobile for use in his canvas for business. This firm is in a very prosperous one.

RESCUE OF A MERCHANT.

A prominent merchant of Shango, N. Y., J. A. Johnson, says: "Several years ago I contracted a cough which grew worse and worse, until I was hardly able to move around. I coughed constantly and nothing relieved my terrible suffering until I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. Before I had taken half a bottle my cough was much better, and in a short time I was entirely cured. I always believe it saved my life. It will always be my family remedy for colds." Fully guaranteed 50c and $1.00 at all druggists. Trill bottle free.

AN AUTHORITATIVE OPINION.

Here is what The Breeders' Gazette, the leading live stock journal of the world, has to say of the Big Bluegrass Fair:

"The Bluegrass Fair to be held at Lexington, Ky., September 17-22, in the belief of the management, will be the best fair ever held in the South. Work to make it a complete success is under way by thoroughly competent and aggressive officials, who have been selected for their special fitness for it. Prizes aggregating $25,000 will be offered, and it is stated that the premiums for beef cattle exceed those of any other fair in the South for this class of stock. The American Shorthorn Breeders' Association has duplicated the fair's premium for Shorthorns and a poultry association has been organized in Lexington which has raised more than $1,500 to be added to the regular appropriation for the poultry show. In view of the liberal appropriation for the live stock division it is expected that a large exhibit of beef cattle will be made by leading breeders. The show of thoroughbred horses the management writes is sure to be superior to any ever seen. There are many features to commend the Bluegrass Fair not only to all agricultural people of Kentucky, but to breeders outside the State who would exhibit their stock where a large crowd of appreciative and interested spectators is assured. Geo. A. Bain, secretary of the first successful Kentucky State Fair, is secretary of the Bluegrass Fair.

THE SECRET OF SUCCESS

"No sir! You cannot palm off any substitutes on me. I've been using August Flower since I was a boy, and I'll have no other."

"Forty million bottles of August Flower sold in the United States alone since its introduction. And the demand is still growing. Isn't that a fine show of success? Don't it prove that August Flower has had unfailing success to cure of indigestion and dyspepsia—the two greatest causes of human unhappiness?"

"Does it not afford the best relief?"

"August Flower is a sure specific for all stomach and intestinal disorders—that is the best of all liver regulators."

"August Flower has a matchless record of over 35 years in curing the ailing millions of these distressing complaints."

"Two sizes, 25c and 75c. All druggists."
